Fairfield Group Loses School Transfer Hassle

Judge Sharp Finds County School Board Acted Within Rights

LISBON — Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp late Thursday afternoon ruled in favor of the Columbiana County Board of Education in the school transfer mandamus action filed by Thomas Hess on behalf of a group of Fairfield Township residents.

The Fairfield Township group had filed the legal action to secure a court order forcing the county board to send their request for transfer to the Columbiana exempted village school district to the State Board of Education for its final decision.

Judge Sharp cited four reasons for his decision:

1. The counter petition was legal.

2. The county board was within its rights in evaluating the petition and counter petition.

3. The final action on the transfer petition was taken by the board on Nov. 19.

4. The counter-counter petition with seven names was filed too late, after final action was taken on the transfer.

The original petition carried 425 signatures out of a possible 496 qualified electors in the petitioning area. However, it was declared null and void by the county board Nov. 19 after the receipt of a counter petition carrying signatures of 59 who signed the original petition.

The law requires that a petition must bear the signatures of at least 75 per cent of the qualified electors.

There was standing room only in the courtroom during the hearing. A large delegation of residents from the Fairfield territory filed by Hilcrest residents is pending. They seek transfer from Yellow Creek Local district to Wellsville city schools. No date has been set for this hearing.

Hays Cites Red Interest In Africa

Congressman Wayne L. Hays pointed out that Russia and the Communists are interested in Africa and hoped to gain control by subversive activities, when he spoke at the Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday noon in the Memorial Building.

He said Russia's interest in the Near East is as a land bridge from Russia to Africa. Africa is the last great land mass of undeveloped resources, prompting Russian plans to gain control, and the United States should be deeply concerned over the Soviet's actions, he said.

Hays charged Secretary of State Dulles and the State Department with trying to be friends with everyone with the net result that the United States is losing the friendship of its allies. He pointed out that we saved Nassar's regime in Egypt by straining our relations with France and England.

Asking for a more realistic foreign relations program, he explained that idealistically we are against colonialism in all forms, but if we were to force various colonialistic powers to give up their colonies immediately, we would create a great political and economic upheaval which the Russians desire to enable them to take over.

The greatest part of Africa is not ready for self-government, Hays added. For example, the Africans would rather have guns, than farm machinery to aid them in their work. If the European powers would move out, local leaders would exploit the population far greater than the present colonialistic powers, he said.

Several out of town guests attended the meeting. Dr. William Kolozsi was program chairman.

EAST PALESTINE — March of Dimes drive chairman H. H. Hunter reported today that a total of $1,724 was received during the recent polio fund campaign.

Hunter said the figure included $429 in donations from school children and $40 obtained from a polio skating party conducted by a Campfire Girls group.

A Teen-Age Code?

Judge Tobin Urges Adoption of Set Of Uniform Standards

A Teen-Age Code, designed to establish some degree of uniformity in standards set for the activities of young people in Columbiana County, has been recommended for adoption in Columbiana County by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Judge Tobin, who points out that the code, a voluntary measure, was the outgrowth of an idea presented at a Conference on Children and Youth held in Minnesota. Richland County (Mansfield) has tried out the code with a high degree of success, he said.

He believes much good can be accomplished by its adoption by young people and parents and through sponsorship and endorsement in the various communities of the county.

Judge Tobin envisions the Teen-Age code as a voluntary measure intended to help both youths and parents and help to curb juvenile delinquency.

Court Statistics Cited

The judge cited statistics today to show that 254 new complaints involving juveniles were filed in his court in 1957, in addition to 33 offenses committed by juveniles previously in trouble.

Records show there were 38 known cases of forced marriages among county youths last year, 109 adults were held on contributing charges, 69 others for non-support and three for abandonment.

In addition, there were 22 instances of unwed mothers and 17 divorce actions in juvenile court. Traffic cases involving teen-age drivers totaled 209.

PTA's Ideal Sponsors

Judge Tobin declared that Parent-Teachers Associations serve as ideal sponsoring organizations for the adoption of a Teen-Age Code since they can conveniently reach parents, teachers and pupils. Service clubs, he said, may serve as sponsors but are more valuable when working with PTA's in assisting and implementing codes.

A pilot meeting is suggested to get community response from people interested in contributing time and effort for initiation of the code.

The Minnesota Teen-Age Code as suggested by Judge Tobin for adoption in Columbiana County communities is as follows:

The Field of Community Responsibility

I. Parents should set an example of community responsibility.

II. Parents have the responsibility to provide, within the community, wholesome recreation.

III. Young people should be encouraged to develop their own creative activities.

IV. Parents have an obligation to assist in community projects for young people, whether sponsored by the school, church or volunteer agencies. Parents have an added obligation to serve as chaperones and provide transportation for the younger children.

V. Parents should be aware of the laws and explain the laws that govern their children.

VI. Parents and young people should feel a moral responsibility for the care of public property.

Family Cooperation

I. Sincerity, forthrightness and open-mindedness are essential on a discussion concerning friends and activities. Family meetings are a good way of solving new situations within the family.

II. Financial matters and management of money should be discussed by parents and teen-agers.

III. Parents and young people should jointly assume responsibility for the discussion and solution of problems which relate to teenage social behavior.

IV. Young people should be encouraged to assume as much responsibility for planning and carrying out their social affairs as possible.

V. Young people should be encouraged to bring friends into the home and parents should welcome the opportunity to meet their children's companions.

VI. Parents should be constantly aware of the growing-up process of their children physically, psychologically and socially. Parents must continue to learn, thereby becoming more understanding adults. Opportunities for so doing are afforded in the home, school, church and social agencies.

VII. Parents should make young people feel that they can bring their problems, mistakes and aspirations to them.

Dating

I. Young people and parents have a responsibility to come to an agreement about dating.

II. Parents have a responsibility to know the young persons their children date.

III. Parents should be at home when young persons are being entertained and should make their presence known. Home activities for groups of older youths with dates is desirable as a way of date entertainment for young people.

IV. Courtesy and consideration should govern the financial aspects of all dating and parents should be careful to educate their young people in such matters.

V. It is more desirable to have group activities than individual dates for those persons below high school level.

VI. Parents should know where and with whom their sons and daughters are going on a date and have an understanding about the time of return.

VII. All parties should terminate at a reasonable hour and young people should return home within a reasonable time from a party.

III. Young people have the responsibility to call home if they are to be out later than agreed upon.

III. Parties or open houses after.

Move Growing to Slash Ike's Tariff Authority

Effort Comes In Face of Plea For More Power

Majority of GOP, Democrats In House Against Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—A powerful congressional move shaped up today aimed at stripping President Eisenhower of important parts of his tariff authority.

This challenge developed in the face of the President's urgent plea for added powers to negotiate further tariff cuts under a proposed five-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program beyond next July 1.

If transformed into law, this move by critics of the program would in effect give Congress a key check on the President's trade agreements authority.

It would deny the President authority he now has to ignore Tariff Commission recommendations for increased import duties where the commission finds such boosts are needed to protect American industry from serious harm.

Concede Fight Looming

As some leading members of the President's own party in Congress blasted his recommendations, Eisenhower's most ardent backers conceded he was in for a fight with the outcome highly uncertain.

Aligned against Eisenhower's proposals appeared to be a majority of House Republicans and a growing number of Democrats.

However, mixed in with the hostile comments were some expressions of support, particularly in the Senate.

The President, in a special message, appealed for broad new authority to lower U. S. tariffs by 5 per cent a year during the next five years. These reductions would be in return for similar trade concessions from other nations.

In his message, Eisenhower told Congress: "We can either receive the benefits of reciprocal lowering of trade barriers, or suffer the inevitable alternatives of increasingly high barriers against our own commerce which would weaken our economy and jeopardize American jobs."

"In particular, it is essential to enable us to meet the latest form

TNT Blast Hits Youngstown Store

YOUNGSTOWN — The district's 58th bombing since 1951 was recorded on the westside last night. A TNT blast damaged the roof of the Youngstown Boat Supply Co.'s store at 2207 Mahoning Ave.

The city police bomb squad reported that two army-type demolition bombs were used. One failed to explode and was found in the rubble. Damage was listed at only $200.

Walter Paulson, owner, said that he knows no reason for the bombing. He told police he has no racket connections, no political connections and no union trouble.

Lt. Frank Waters, head of the bomb squad, said that this is the first time an unexploded bomb has been found in the remains as evidence.

The blast came at 7 o'clock while a Common Pleas jury was in its 6th hour of deliberation in the fate of John Magurias, 30, on trial in connection with a previous bombing. Magurias was charged with planting a bomb in the car of a tavern keeper in 1955. It did not go off.

Chester M. Brautigam, director of Salem's 1957 national champion American Legion Band, was awarded the Distinguished Service Award at the Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual "Bosses Night" dinner Thursday night at the Golf Club.

A plaque was presented by Thomas Pastier, chairman of the Jaycees Award Committee, for Brautigam's work as director of the band and his interest in promoting American Legion baseball in Salem.

The surprise award was given to Brautigam before a crowd of more than 100 at the dinner meeting.

Brautigam, principal at Reilly Elementary school, was director of the Salem High School Band for a number of years.

He has been interested in music all his life and since he became director of the American Legion Band it has won the Ohio championship three years in succession and last summer won the national Legion championship.

Brautigam lives at 990 N. Ellsworth Ave. where he also operates a neighborhood store.

When awarded the bronze plaque Brautigam said "I am not only surprised but proud to receive such a wonderful award."

George Co. Financial Status Under Study

EAST PALESTINE — A revision in the financial status of the W. S. George Pottery Co. is being studied today by the Small Business Administration at Cleveland after compromise settlements with the secured creditors resulted in a reduction in the immediate cash available for working capital under the $450,000 refinancing plan.

The revised figures were taken to the Cleveland office Thursday. A spokesman there indicated that a new study at the Washington headquarters would be necessary.

Atty. Jack H. Cohen, receiver for the pottery, asserted that this did not affect monies raised here last week by subscription, and that none of those monies would be dispersed until final approval was given.

THEFT IS REPORTED — Donald Santee of M.C. 1, Salem, reported to police the theft of a portable electric drill valued at $50 from a new home he was helping to construct at 187 Cleveland Ave. Wednesday morning.

Peaceful Revolution Has Begun

Teaching of Science
Being Given New BirthBy CHARLES L. STAFFORD
AP Staff Writer

Third in series

Blissfully unaware, the parents in the auditorium of a Salt Lake City school watched an incident in a peaceful revolution.

It was an ordinary occasion, the annual play by the sixth grade of Franklin School. They expected the ordinary thing—Columbus discovering America, or perhaps Christmas in foreign lands.

The parents were startled when they heard the boom of a rocket blast-off. Then faintly, on the waves of an imaginary radio, they heard their children's voices. The youngsters announced proudly that they were on their way to the moon.

Tuning in on the trip on "inter-planetary television," the parents laughed at the boy who had forgotten his magnetic shoes and kept hitting the ceiling of the space ship. They saw their children demonstrate the weakness of moon gravity by jumping over mountains. They learned that temperatures on the moon range from 200 degrees during the day to 200 below at night.

This imaginary moon trip was a clue to a revolution which promises to alter the course of American education.

In a nationwide survey of teachers, principals and administrators, The Associated Press found that the art of teaching science is being given new birth.

A gentle swell in educational circles for a half decade, the new emphasis on test tube and triangle, physical theory and the atom became a nationwide tidal wave in the weeks after the Russians launched the first man-made satellite.

At the national and state levels, educators are talking of plans and studies. But in cities and individual schools—as in Salt Lake City's Franklin School—the change has begun.

Across the Gulf of Mexico in the high school at Melbourne, Fla., talented students labor to learn among desiccated from the scene of a failure. The science laboratory is equipped with surplus equipment from the missile test center at nearby Cape Canaveral.

It was there the United States failed Dec. 6 to launch a satellite.

At Des Moines, talented students began accelerated classes in physics and chemistry on Jan. 18. After regular week-day sessions they spend Saturday mornings in the laboratory probing the subjects to a greater depth.

At Perry, Iowa, Mrs. Dorothy Kelleher holds a model of the Russians' Sputnik II aloft before her first-grade pupils. Appropriately, it is labeled "Laika" after the Russian dog it carried into outer space.

New Orleans is an old city with a new approach to teaching science. "Rolling laboratories" are moved from classroom to classroom in the elementary schools. A special high school trains bright students with intelligence quotients of 120 or better.

High Winds Ground
'Moon' Launching Plans

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—High winds swirling 8 to 10 miles directly overhead grounded any plans for launching an earth satellite today and might continue to do so for several days to come.

Winds up to 230 miles an hour surged across central Florida and the Bahamas area at altitudes of from 40,000 to 45,000 feet. They were part of a high-altitude jet stream, a river of high winds extending virtually all the way from the Pacific Coast.

What missile men worried about was not so much the great velocity of the winds as the shearing effect of swift changes in wind direction and speed.

Opposing winds could twist and bend an elongated vehicle such as the Army's satellite—launching Jupiter-C. The Army hopes to put a missile into an orbit around the earth at an altitude of 200 miles or more.

Tune Is 'Appropriate'
For the Occasion!

CHICAGO (AP)—It looked like a sale, when the man with the long, wavy hair asked to play a bop record Thursday night in Al's Record Shop. But as the music played, the customer produced a gun. He fled with $170 as the phonograph blared a tune called "Let's Get Lost."

Campanella Critical;
Legs Still Paralyzed

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Roy Campanella remained on the critical list today, his legs still paralyzed.

But there was definite improvement in the condition of the Los Angeles Dodgers catcher injured in an automobile crash early Tuesday.

A hospital bulletin late Thursday said that Campanella had regained some feeling as far down as the abdomen, a distinct improvement. A dodger official also reported that Campy was able to move his fingertips a little. Previously, his sensitivity had been limited to the upper chest, arms or hands.

The 36-year-old catcher, three times National League most valuable player, continued to run a temperature slightly above normal but the hospital said that was expected.

Doctors are optimistic about Campanella's chances of overcoming the paralysis, but do not hold out much hope for his return to baseball.

Irving Berlin, whose name originally was Isidore Baline, was born in Temun, Russia. His family moved to New York when he was four years old.

RADIO-ACTIVE HOUSEWIFE—Radio research, household duties and farming chores are all part of a day's work for Mrs. Orton Newton, of Pharsalia, N.Y. The 50-acre Newton farm is dotted with microwave radio equipment, like the giant antenna which dwarfs the 59-year-old housewife-researcher at right. Mrs. Newton turns the transmitters on, left, by dialing combinations of numbers on a special dial exactly like one on a telephone. She receives her transmission orders from Holmdel, N.J., 171 miles away, where the radio signals are picked up at the Bell Telephone Laboratories' research installation. The project studies the nature of over-the-horizon microwave transmission, used for long-distance signals.

Competition in Cancer
Research Is Urged

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cancer research should be put on the same competitive basis as satellite development, says the science editor of the American Cancer Society.

Pai McGrady of New York City proposed that the U.S. government challenge Soviet and other foreign scientists to compete for cancer control.

"Few people," he told reporters, "would care whether a cancer cure were stamped 'Made in the U.S.A.' or 'Made in the U.S.S.R.'"

BOY DROWNS IN LAKE

LOORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Michael E. Martin, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Martin, was drowned in Lake Erie here Thursday when he apparently slipped into the water from a ledge of ice.

The boy's partly submerged body was found following a search that was started after his dog came wet and whining to the door of the Martin home.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Temperatures will average 2 to 4 degrees above normal. Normal high: 34 north; 40 south. Normal low: 19 - 23. Little temperature change until warmer about Tuesday or Wednesday. Rain or snow tonight, Monday and about Wednesday.

Court Declares Youth
From Akron Insane

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—David B. Hough, an Akron, Ohio, youth charged with the kidnapping of two girls, was declared insane and ordered committed to the state mental hospital at Chatahoochee Thursday.

Hough, who broke parole in a federal stolen car case, was charged with holding Joanne Beach, 16, and Barbara McNeely, 17, at gunpoint in West Palm Beach Aug. 10. Police said he forced the girls to accompany him by car to Daytona Beach (192 miles) where he was arrested.

The girls were unharmed.

Ohio Murder Suspect
Waives Trial by Jury

MILLERSBURG, Ohio (AP)—Michael Dumoulin, 20, of Wooster, Ohio, has waived a jury trial and asked to be tried by a panel of three judges when he goes on trial next month.

He is charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting of an Amish farmer July 18.

Cleo Eugene Peters, 19, of Muscatine, Iowa, accompanied Dumoulin in the robbery-shooting of Paul Coblenz, 25, at Coblenz' farm home near Mount Hope.

Peters was found guilty of first degree murder Dec. 11 and is awaiting execution in the Ohio Penitentiary electric chair.

DIES IN FREAK MISHAP

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Charles Riley, 73, of near Medina, was killed Thursday when a wheel rolled off a passing truck and hit him in the chest. He was walking along Ohio 3.

Man Perishes
In Dayton Fire60-Year-Old Held Off
Police With Shotgun

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A body apparently that of a man who held police off with a shotgun—was recovered today from the ruins of his nine-room house.

Although no identification was made immediately, firemen said it is apparently the body of Howard Ferguson, 60. He is believed to have died when the fire swept the house where he made a stand against police and sheriff's deputies Thursday night.

Police, called to the scene after Ferguson's son, Howard Jr., 17, reported his father has been drinking and was "tearing up the house," said Ferguson may have set the fire himself.

They said he fired at police and sheriff's deputies after his son-in-law Dayton policeman Bobbie L. Peak, and Deputy Carl Watson were unable to convince him to put down a 12 gauge shotgun and leave with them.

Ferguson may have set the fire in an attempt to escape, police said. It broke out on the second floor about 10:30 p.m.

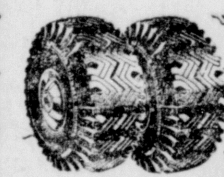

Dayton Daily News photographer Joe Wissel, 30, went into the house with firemen. He was overcome by smoke and had to be taken to Miami Valley Hospital where his condition is now said to be satisfactory.

2 Get Prison Terms
For Shooting Patrolman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—James Myers, 20, and Walter Jankowski, alias Frank Ashley, 27, both of Buffalo, N. Y., have been given prison terms for the Dec. 19 shooting of Ohio highway patrolman Augustine P. Giuffre, 39.

Myers, who admitted the shooting, was sentenced to a term of 3 to 55 years in the Mansfield Reformatory Thursday. Jankowski was sent to the Ohio Penitentiary for a term of 2 to 40 years. Both men pleaded guilty to charges of shooting with intent to kill, two counts of burglary and two charges of auto theft.

Prosecutor Samuel L. Devine said retainers have been filed against the pair by authorities in Lafayette and Erie counties, N.Y., and Riverside County, Calif. They are also wanted for violating parole in New York.

Colleges Get Dander Up

Many Dropping Lazy Students at Mid-term

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Memo to prospective college students: The era of the gentlemanly "C" is coming to an end.

In spite of the fact that college admissions and applications are off, classroom professors are spontaneously tightening up on what they expect from their students, according to private surveys of college educators across the nation just made available to NEA Service.

Land-grant universities, for example, are following their state laws in admitting graduates from high schools, but:

"We've dropped a thousand students at mid-terms," a Midwestern university spokesman said. "There was no edict from the administration. After Sputnik the faculty just spontaneously decided to jack up the standards of scholarship. No loafer should be allowed to take the place on the campus of a serious student."

Privately endowed colleges, with usually - tough admissions policies, are working over their students, too.

"We used to figure that pre-selection of students was enough," an administrative official in a posh New England college said. "We used to string along with any poor material we let in."

"But now the coasts are getting a rough time of it. And we've told a number of men not to bother coming back after midterms."

Behind this sudden change in the good-old-college-days lies one word - competition.

For the first time, American education has been forced to realize that totalitarian governments can and will produce highly-trained students.

"Sputnik" said a Columbia University instructor, "is a defeat for every American educator. So let's not kid ourselves with little jokes about the Russian mind - or any mind. We've been lax."

For the first time, too, faculty men are finding themselves in demand as the crush of war babies comes of college age. Competition for admission is expected to reach its peak in the 1960's.

But, according to Robert Norwine, vice president of the Association of College Admissions Counsellors:

"The tidal wave hasn't started yet. In fact, admissions were off this year and there seems to be no significant increase for next year."

"If faculty men are getting tougher - and they are - because they feel their schools can be more selective, they're jumping the gun. What our colleges need right now are freshmen."

Strike at Ironton Goes Into 2nd Day

IRONTON, Ohio (U-P) — A strike by 230 workers at the Wilson Athletic Goods Manufacturing Co. plant here went into its second day today. Negotiations continue on a new contract.

The workers, members of Local 461, International Chemical Workers Union, walked off the job Thursday. Clarence Clements, plant manager, said the union did not authorize the walkout.

The union's old contract expired Jan. 26. Terms of the proposed new contract have not been disclosed.

Liberal Education For Russians

In President Eisenhower's opinion, it would be a wonderful thing to bring a lot of Russian students to the United States and let them stay a full year, even if the Soviet Union admits no American students.

The President suggested it might be a good idea to break off negotiations on exchanging students and accept the Russians, even though they take no Americans.

The President said that the idea came to him in a letter from someone but he didn't identify the writer to the group of senators present at a White House ceremony celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Smith-Mundt Act which created the Voice of America and the U.S. Information Agency.

Before passing on the merits of the suggestion of bringing Russians to this country for a year's education, it would be well to read what memories of America exchange students from countries other than Russia have carried home with them.

The Associated Press, last weekend, presented a roundup of the reactions of several of these exchange students who have returned to their native lands after a year's exposure to life in America.

"Almost invariably," The Associated Press reported, "these former exchange students remembered the American people for their openness, their hospitality. But there were some American institutions and attitudes which left them critical."

The most critical of the group was Risa-buro Watanabe, 21, son of a Tokyo physician, who said: "American education is slated to give the student only one point of view — the American view."

He also was critical of the American foreign policy especially as it applies to continuance of U. S. bases in Japan, to the Girard case, to the relations with Russia and Communist China. But with all its faults, Watanabe wants to some day make his home in America because of his "many friends" here.

A young German student, Gerhard Rompel, found U.S. high schools geared to mass needs at the expense of the "intelligent student who couldn't learn enough," and with few exceptions, American teachers were "not too well trained."

A student from Norway, "was scared a little to see the tremendous power held by unions. . . . In particular the New York dock situation was pretty bad."

An Argentine miss, who had lived for 10 years under Peron, liked the free exchange of opinions in the classroom but thought the "kids should have to take more subjects in the States. They only have to take four and here we have to take fourteen."

The lack of discipline among the younger generation, in and out of school and by the fact that so many students have the chewing gum habit didn't "impress" a young miss from Pakistan. She was "impressed" by the American system of government and the value Americans place on their freedom and the fact that students are not exploited by politicians.

Presumably, these students had some preconceived ideas about America but did not come here with closed minds. Their comments, both critical and complimentary appear to be their honest opinions and not words placed in their mouths by dictators.

The Reds leave very little to chance or free expression, and it is not to be expected that they would fall over themselves to accept any such suggestion. However, on the outside chance that they would, any Russian students they would send, would be hand picked. The Communist doctrine would have been instilled into their minds since birth and on their return they would be propaganda grist for the Red mills to scoff at the American education system.

It would be a remote chance — but one that might be worth taking — that enough of the American spirit would rub off on the Russians to counteract their Communistic upbringing.

as well as in fact and settled down for the long pull.

He knew that sooner or later the potential rebellion he was sitting on would explode and throw him out. He had known since early this year that his days were numbered.

At the end, he was the victim of his own militarists, as all dictators know they are likely to be. The army makes and breaks political destinies in all countries that have been unable to develop a system of popular sanction for government leadership.

What happens now to the oil and the iron ore in Venezuela with Jimenez in exile? What will be the new form of government that will rush into the vacuum, propelled by military sanction, or repelled by it, as the case may be?

Venezuela has held another "election," but nothing has been decided, other than to throw out the dictator who was thrown in to replace the only Venezuelan president ever put into office by the will of his fellow citizens.

Boost To Better Relations?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Life would be simpler and maybe safer if nations of people could act like individual people. For instance: in visiting one another.

This week the United States and the Soviet Union signed an agreement for exchanging visitors — delegations from industry, agriculture, the arts, and so on — but it took effort ever since 1955 to get around to it.

The idea started that year at the summit conference in Geneva. Some visits were exchanged. But in the fall of 1956 the Soviet Union crushed the Hungarian revolt and this country on Dec. 3, 1956, called a halt to the exchange program.

State Department officials represented President Eisenhower as believing the program should not be resumed until the Soviet Union showed it believes in the right of neighboring countries to coexist under governments of their own choosing.

The Soviets haven't demonstrated any such thing but nevertheless, the new exchange program was agreed to this week. In fact on April 12, 1957, the Eisenhower administration tentatively agreed to resume the program. During this time some small exchanges were taking place. But the idea got a boost — or a needle — on June 2, 1957, when Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party boss, appeared on millions of American TV screens in a filmed interview made by the Columbia Broadcasting System the previous month.

Among other things Khrushchev called for wider exchange of cultural delegations. At his news conference June 5 Eisenhower rather brushed aside the Khrushchev performance.

But the Soviets followed up. On June 6 they sent their ambassador to Washington, Georgi N. Zarubin, to the State Department. He spent more than two hours there, urging expansion of cultural exchanges.

On June 24 this government urged the U.S.S.R. to allow Soviet and American leaders to speak directly to each other's people in a series of uncensored radio and TV programs.

The State Department, in making this offer, acknowledged the timing was influenced partly by Khrushchev's appearance on TV here. The Soviets on July 26 proposed a conference with this country to get agreement on exchanges.

On Aug. 16 this government said it was willing to talk. On Oct. 28 Zarubin walked into the State Department with 52 proposals.

The two main American suggestions turned out to be these: agreement by Moscow to stop jamming voice of American broadcasts in Russian, and regular exchange of uncensored radio-TV comments on world events.

The negotiations, which started with Zarubin's visit last October, were finally turned into the agreement signed Monday. The United States didn't get its two main requests. The Soviets didn't get all they wanted either.

For example, the Soviets, who have jet airliners, wanted direct Moscow-New York air service, which would probably mean Soviet jets landing in this country twice a week. The Soviet proposal wasn't turned down flatly.

This country may agree to this when it has jet airliners in operation too.

Matter of Fact

Insurance was probably first used among the Babylonian traders about 3,000 or 4,000 B.C. Goods would be loaned to the traders and they would pay as interest one-half the profits. If the adventure failed, because of robbery or other misfortune, the trader would not have to pay anything. The interest was the trader's payment for insurance. It relieved him of financial loss in case of unexpected disaster.

Probes Slow Pentagon

By DAVID LAWRENCE

McElroy May Ask Overhaul of Advisory System

The American people have been hearing a lot lately about "a single chief of staff" for the armed forces and a "reorganization of the Pentagon" so as to eliminate what is called "inter-service rivalries." Yet few people know the background of the controversy and the hidden issues debated in the five-sided building where thousands of officers of all the armed services perform their daily functions.

There is really nothing wrong with the "Pentagon" that a little information from Soviet Russia wouldn't cure, as, for instance, exactly when the next war will break out and where and what kind of war it will be — that is, "local" or "limited" or "Global."

Fundamentally, the main discussions here during the last decade have been concerned with the question of what strategy would be predominant if any kind of war came.

Just after World War II ended, many of those who have argued that the concept of air power is above all else in importance urged a single chief of all the armed services. They felt that naturally he would have to be an air man and could blend the operations of the other services into a single-service idea.

BUT THE ARMY, which for a long time had been theoretically in favor of a single chief and a general staff, balked at having its tactical air force, for example, taken away from ground troops and insisted also that the ground-warfare concept could not be shoved aside altogether especially since "local" wars could not be dismissed as unlikely. There was talk of making a separate service out of the strategic air force as a solution, but this was abandoned.

The Navy felt that the command and operation of war at sea, not only on the surface but above and below, had to be retained under its own control without interference by some single chief who didn't understand sea techniques — submarines or floating aircraft carriers. A whole science of naval warfare in support of ground and air combat, as happened in Korea, could not be discarded.

Congress compromised in 1947. A separate Air Force was created and, instead of two armed services, there now are three. Likewise, to the three military departments, a fourth — the Defense Department, with its immense superstructure of civilians — was added.

Predictions were made at the time that "unification" of this kind would not work, but it has taken a decade of actual experience to find that out. Now a healthy discussion of remedies is, of course, in order.

IN PEACETIME the main task of the Defense Department is to buy "hardware." The question always is how much to buy and how fast to get it made. There is no lack of decision power. Sometimes it takes a little longer to reach a decision than the defense chiefs like, but that's because it's customary to give everyone a chance to be heard, whether civilian or military.

Some of the responsibility for the delay in putting decisions into effect must be laid on the co-step of Congress.

Under our system, there is an avenue of appeal to Congress and military men have their friends on Capitol Hill to whom they pour out their troubles and apprehensions.

The result is investigation after investigation, which often means delay in putting into effect decisions already made by the proper officials in the executive branch of the government.

It cannot be overlooked also that since a vast number of dollars — billions and billions — are involved, this means different defense contractors in private industry have their own ideas. They, too, have friends in Congress.

Similarly, senators and representatives are "briefed" privately by officers or civilians from back home, where huge military installations or employment in plants have their impact on local business conditions and on continuing prosperity in a given area.

The public knows little about all these pressures and, even eliminating any natural interest in local projects, there are conscientious men in Congress and in the armament business who sometimes feel that a Pentagon decision in a particular thing is wrong or that it is being delayed unduly.

Then there is domestic politics arising out of the economy issue which leaves its fatal mark on many a well-conceived plan of a military nature.

WHEN ALL IS SAID AND DONE, the military are the only truly disinterested group, and yet they cannot tell how soon they will need the weapons being made for them. If they knew a certain purchase would not be needed for six years, they could advocate the acceleration of something else that they needed this year or next. But this turns on what kind of war will have to be fought and when it will break out.

The President already has a group of military advisers but the Joint Chiefs of Staff are too far away from him. Gen. Taylor, chief of staff of the Army, said recently in a public speech that there are 19 civilians between him and the President.

It seems certain now that a rearrangement of the whole advisory system will be recommended to President Eisenhower by Secretary of Defense McElroy so as to promote efficiency and accelerate the consultation process.

But the power of decision in planning war operations cannot be vested in Congress or in a single chief of the armed services themselves. It must remain in the commander-in-chief, the President of the United States, as it always has been under the American Constitution.

Next to Godliness

By TRUMAN TWILL

This morning on my way in from the country, I stopped at the dry cleaner's with various garments that needed attention. Scarcely a week passed that members of my family do not avail themselves of this commonplace service.

By rough calculation, I should think our patronage must account for no less than $250 in the course of a year, taking into consideration the cleaning of draperies, covers and the spring roundup of heavy coats and suits that must be cleaned sealed up in bags and put away during warm weather.

This service now is so familiar to taken for granted in its routine efficiency — that it is hard to believe it has been only a few years since wool clothing was only brushed and aired, never cleaned.

Drycleaning technique limped and stumbled for a long time after it was first developed. Garments that had ripened to dizzying aroma might smell even gamier after an unsuccessful dry cleaning. Sometimes it was necessary to run them through a second time to get rid of the "cleaners' smell." It could be terrible.

Even pressing was a gamble, to say nothing of the likelihood of losing one or both parts of a two-piece outfit in the shuffle. After dry cleaning was added to the rising standard of living to stay, it still was the prudent thing in most cases to try to keep woollens clean and, as they became soiled, to rehabilitate them with whisk brooms, brisk breezes and a smidgen of something that smelled extra good stuck into a pocket or a fold. There was more to lavender and old lace than sentiment, just as an orange with cloves stuck into it was more than a keepsake when kept on the shelf of a clothes closet.

It is worthwhile to remember, when thinking of pomp and pageantry or wagon trains and the carving of the frontier or any of the days before the first quarter of the 20th century that living in them was an olfactory adventure.

ture. It would have been much too rugged for moderns who take garments to the cleaner in the morning and can pick them up on the way home at night, if they choose.

Men commonly owned but one suit, which was worn on special occasions and hidden away in darkness the rest of the time, to keep it from becoming dirty and faded. The bane of a woman's life was fear of ruining a frock irreparably with a spill or stain that could not be removed with soap and water. All books of household hints featured suggestions for getting rid of difficult stains and spots. As often as not, the discolorations lasted forever and had to be concealed with a ribbon or a brooch.

But these last few years, even the sleeves of a man's coat have ceased to be a problem. Pressers who once pressed them flat, with a sharp crease on the top side, because that was easier than to press them round, now press them as they were designed to be worn. That was the ultimate triumph of service, as far as I was concerned.

I wonder if it ever occurs to others, too, to be thankful for a blessing that is worth what it costs. Only those who remember when it could not be bought for any price know what it's really worth.

Once Over

Letter to Chou En-lai: You goofed. There is no percentage in kicking mother love and family devotion. In coldly brushing off American mothers, who went half way around the world and fell to their knees in a plea for their kids' release from Chinese dungeons, you took a course hard to explain.

Here was a situation made to order for doing Red China some good and you bobbled it. It was like kicking the rocking chair out from Whistler's Mother."

YOUR ACT WAS not even close to traditional pattern of Chinese behavior. Family ties, love between kids and parents, etc., were featured in Chinese poetry and literature for thousands of years.

Confucius said: "Benevolence is the characteristic of humanity and the great exercise of it is in the love to relatives."

That "Loving union with children is like the music of lutes and harps."

Taoist scripture tells a touching story of mother and son devotion, relating how a mother, desperately ill on a winter day, craved a soup of bamboo roots. The son went to the bamboo grove, clutched frozen bamboos and wept bitterly, his love moving nature to open the frozen ground and shoot forth green roots from which he made a soup which his mother tasted and recovered."

THIS IS THE CHINA the world knows. So why boot it around by a show of tough contempt for such virtues, sending the American mothers home and keeping their sons in dungeons on the silly charges they are U.S. Intelligence Agency spies? The little town of Wallingford, Conn., is hardly the place to look for experienced agents if Uncle Sam wanted them.

If Johnny Downey and Dick Fecteau were spies so were Humpty Dumpty, the boy who stood on the burning deck and the drummer boy in Shiloh.

A Confucian verse in children, as they seem to a mother, says, How young and tender is the child, with his two tufts of hair. When you see him after not a long while, lo, he is wearing a cap."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

Dave Beck was storming as his reign ended. Dethronement came so swiftly that his power, like his participants, was left dangling in the midst of still another of his seemingly endless declarations of war. Had there been a clanking of armor outside his council room last Thursday morning, the scene of this story might have been some medieval castle instead of the marble palace Beck built across from the nation's capitol for the Teamsters' Brotherhood.

This is written because the moment of departure of all monarchs should be recorded. That moment for Beck came while he was furiously announcing to the old Teamsters executive board that he would fight for years the court appointment of a Board of Monitors over the giant union.

Suddenly the big door of the meeting room opened. A handsome black-haired fellow walked softly across the deep carpeting. Beck never stopped shouting.

THE NEWCOMER, lawyer Ed Williams, quietly announced that Brother Beck no longer was president. This old high command no longer was in control of the Teamsters' Union. Jim Hoffa had been president since 10:30 that morning. The federal court injunction setting aside the decisions of the Miami Beach convention of the temos last October had just been dissolved by Judge F. Dickinson Lettis. Beck and those around him now were just a handful of men holding a fraternal meeting, Williams said—softly, of course.

The outraged potentate practiced no restraint of tirade. Beck said he still was in power. It would take considerable time to gather the new high command—elected in Miami Beach—but kept from office by a court order until that moment, he said. The new officers were scattered all over the country. Beck shouted, and until they took over he would rule.

BUT THE DOOR opened again. In stalked the new high command. They were led by the new primate, James R. Hoffa. Unknown to Beck, they had gathered in another room on a lower floor. The old shuffle out. The new took over. That night Beck was the loneliest man in town.

Beck thought that the federal court trial of the Teamsters Union on charges of running a rigged convention in Miami Beach would last another two years. This would have kept him in as unrestricted president.

He had heard of the Board of Monitors settlement proposed by lawyer Ed Williams. But Beck was confident that he could kill the scheme.

After all, Beck thought, he was president. The court injunction would keep Hoffa, who was for the compromise, from taking over. Therefore, Beck had said, he would simply veto the scheme. This would keep him on as president with full powers.

What Beck didn't know was that the lawyers for the 13 rank-and-filers who were suing the Teamsters had spent the early part of the week putting the finishing commas on the pact creating the three-man monitoring board.

Beck was unaware that lawyers for both sides had gone almost 36 hours without sleep to get the deal down on paper in time for Thursday morning.

Early that morning Ed Williams and the opposition went into Judge Lettis' chambers. They explained that they wanted to settle the suit.

THEY POINTED out that Beck would not approve of the agreement because it dumped him. So the judge dumped Beck. Williams went from the federal court to where Beck was holding court with the old Teamster high command. Hoffa approved the pact. But he is still a long way from complete control of the Teamsters. The pact, approved by the court, makes Hoffa and the new high command "provisional" officers. That's in Section One of the court order permitting Hoffa to take office but only under the watchful eye of the Board of Monitors.

The Teamsters new "provisional" executive board MUST adopt a new ethical code. This is what may remove Hoffa in the next few months. For, at the very moment that Hoffa was taking over in Washington, U.S. Attorney Paul Williams was standing before Federal Judge John Cashin in New York setting the trial date for Feb. 3 for Hoffa on charges of illegal wire-tapping.

If convicted, Hoffa must step down from the Teamsters presidency according to the new code the Teamsters must adopt if they want to keep from under the Washington court's administration.

There may be changes again in the Teamsters' marble palace.

Teamsters Maintaining Close Ties With AFL-CIO Unions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Teamsters Union, even though expelled by the AFL-CIO as corrupt, is maintaining close working alliances with several key AFL-CIO unions.

The Teamsters and three of their old AFL-CIO pals—the Operating Engineers, Laborers and Carpenters unions—have just renewed a three-year-old pact to cooperate in joint organizing of workers in highway and other heavy construction jobs.

How this is going to suit George Meany, AFL-CIO president, and other federation leaders remains to be seen. It likely will be discussed at the AFL-CIO Executive Council session opening here Monday.

The Teamsters, along with the Laundry and Bakery Workers unions, were ousted from the AFL-CIO in December for alleged corrupt leadership.

The Teamsters have similar mutual aid pacts with several other AFL-CIO unions.

One is the Machinists Union headed by Al Hayes, chairman of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee, which paved the way for the Teamsters' ouster from the federation.

The Machinists-Teamsters aid pact to organize garage employees is coming up next week for renewal at a conference between the two unions in Los Angeles. There is reported to be an argument within the Machinists Union as to whether to continue their Teamsters alliance. The Machinists and Teamsters have each been putting up $100,000 a year for joint organizing drives.

gram was Harry A. Stuhldreher, one of the famous "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame's 1924 football team.

Stuhldreher, now vice president of the United States Steel Corp. in Pittsburgh, told the group that the most important thing a football player, or anyone in business learns, is that "if you are beaten you just have to try a little harder the next time."

The speaker lauded the Jaycees for their fine work.

He also stressed that teamwork in business, as it is in football, is compulsory for a smoothly working organization.

John Asperger, District 5 vice president of the Jaycees, explained the workings of the Jaycees and the many projects they carry out each year.

Jack Rance, president of the local Jaycee chapter, presided at the meeting and introduced all the Jaycees and their bosses following the dinner. Marvin Roberts was general chairman.

John Peterson Files For Clerk's Post

John W. (Jack) Peterson of East Palestine, named Tuesday as interim clerk of courts to succeed the late John W. Coleman, filed today with the County Election Board to seek the Republican nomination to the unexpired term at the May 6 primaries.

Peterson, chief deputy in the office for many years, was selected for the post by county commissioners. He resides at 404 W. North Ave., East Palestine.

Meanwhile, Atty. Robert S. Hartford, also of East Palestine, filed for the Democratic nomination for common pleas court judge. He is the first to enter on the Democratic slate. Judge Joel H. Sharp filed earlier for the Republican nomination. Atty. Hartford was the Democratic nominee for prosecuting attorney in 1956.

The two filings brought to 14 the total entered for county office in the primaries. The deadline is Wednesday at 4 p.m.

County Deputies Take Two to Reformatory

LISBON—Sheriff's deputies conveyed two prisoners to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield, today to begin serving terms imposed in common pleas court.

for various Air Force construction projects, for which part of the Air Force money is to be used. Already passed by the House, it went through the Senate or a voice vote of the only nine senators present. Its total is $549,670,000.

Although the Senate accepted the exact authorization total voted by the House, it made two changes in the construction bill that require House approval or a Senate House compromise later.

One of these would give the secretary of the Air Force authority to relocate some of the proposed bases for the Strategic Air Command.

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) said the Armed Services Committee discovered that several of the proposed new SAC dispersal bases already are classed as "prime targets" for the enemy.

Knocked out by the Senate was a House floor change authorizing the secretary of defense to set up the research agency.

Stennis said the agency is too important for legislation to be "enacted hastily."

Two traffic accidents causing only slight damages to the four cars involved were investigated by city police Wednesday.

A car driven by Tyler Jacobson, 44, of 540 W. Pershing St., backed into a parked car owned by Martin H. Fraundorfer which was parked on W. Pershing St. at 7:45 p.m.

A second mishap occurred at 11:49 a.m. when a car driven by Dorothy Getz of Benton Road backed out of a parking space and struck a car driven by James F. Grate, 30, of 243 S. Broadway, near the intersection of S. Broadway and W. State St.

State Refuses to Pay City of Columbus' Fines

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If the city of Columbus wants to collect more than $2,800 from parking tickets put on state vehicles, it will have to find the state employees who were driving them.

Chalmers P. Wylie, the governor's assistant, told Columbus Municipal Court officials Thursday that the state cannot legally pay the fines due from the tickets. He suggested the city take direct action against state employees who violate parking regulations.

Some of the tickets are almost five years old.

BIG IN STATURE

These Shetlands are excellent "work horses" and are strong for their size.

THOSE FAMOUS PONIES of the Shetland islands—as well as horses, cattle, sheep and dogs of the rugged islands off the mainland of Great Britain—are in most cases smaller than their types elsewhere in the world. But, their smallness is a big advantage in some places, such as travelling circuses or for work in low-ceilinged mines. Any number of Shetland ponies are exported each year for personal use, one reason being that they are good playmates for children. The pony is found in all colors, with brown and black the most common. Officially, the maximum height permitted at the shoulder is 42 inches at the age of four years, but the majority are some two to four inches shorter than that.

The Shetland pony is one of the purest and one of the oldest pony breeds.

Third-Ranked Bearcats Beat Stubborn Redskins 79-59

Robertson Throttled In First Half

By The Associated Press
The Cincinnati Bearcats, third ranked in the nation, highlighted Ohio college cage action Thursday night by defeating a stubborn Miami Redskins team, 79-59.

Oscar Robertson, the nation's top scorer, was held to a meager seven points in the first half, but exploded for 23 more in the second stanza to help boost the Bearcats to their 14th victory in 16 games.

Miami (10-5), never in the lead, throttled both the Bearcats' fast break offense and Robertson through much of the first half. The Redskins used a four-man zone defense with one man, John Powell, staying with Robertson.

Wayne Embry, Miami's leading scorer with a 24.2 average, got 18 points.

In the only conference game, Capital University downed Kenyon, 71-64 in the Ohio Conference.

Kenyon, now 1-4 in the conference and 2-7 over-all, led the Lutherans throughout most of the first half, but were never able to catch Capital after it took the lead, 24-23.

Capital's Paul Snyder and Dave Barr split scoring honors. Each collected 19 points.

The victory put Capital 6-4 in the conference and 7-6 for the season.

In two non-conference tilts in the state, Wilmington remained the only unbeaten college team in Ohio by dropping Centre College of Kentucky, 73-55, and Wooster defeated Ashland, 74-58.

The Wilmington win, the 11th in a row, set an all-time Quaker record for consecutive victories.

Three teams ventured outside the state.

Steubenville posted victory No. 19 with an 85-55 win over Lawrence Tech at Detroit. The Barons have suffered one defeat.

Youngstown also recorded a victory, 79-55, over Westminster (Pa.).

Baldwin-Wallace, however, was edged by Geneva, 88-81 at Beaver Falls, Pa.

Finsterwald, Mosel Lead Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald and Stan Mosel, each holding a share of the lead, prepared to tee off today in the second round of the $15,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Both golfers posted five under par 66s over the 5,896-yard Phoenix Country Club course Thursday to move two strokes in front of newcomers John McMullin, Tom Jacobs and Wesley Ellis Jr. and veteran Jerry Barber.

Finsterwald considers the Phoenix Open his tournament trail jinx. In the past two years he has finished no better than 28th.

The former Athens, Ohio, golfer put together rounds of 33-33 over the par-36-35 course to get a good start toward cracking the jinx and keeping his money-winning record intact. Finsterwald has finished among the money winners in the past 70 tournaments played over the 72-hole route.

Mosel, a product of the North Texas State University golfing factory and now playing out of Essex Fells, N.J., picked up four strokes on the front nine and then had to make a great recovery on the 18th to tie.

New York Bows 7-0 To Montreal Squad

By The Associated Press
The Montreal Canadiens won the game. There was no question about that since the score was 7-0. But the National Hockey League leaders got no better than a stand-off in the money assessed by the referee in Thursday night's brawl on the Montreal ice.

The Canadiens, playing without the hospitalized Bernie Geoffrion and the convalescing Maurice Richard, increased their advantage over the New York Rangers to 22 points in the circuit's only game as goalie Jacques Plante posted his eighth shutout of the season. Money-wise the game cost players of each team $75 with referee Red Storey calling a total of 30 penalties. They included two majors, one game misconduct, two 10-minute misconducts and 25 minors.

The 30 penalties were six short of the league record. A total of 36 were called against Montreal and Toronto Dec. 9, 1953. As for the scoring, Dickie Moore got two of Montreal's goals. The others were tallied by Doug Harvey, Dollard St. Laurent, Jean Beliveau, Marcel Bonin and Don Marshall.

St. John's Removed As Last Unbeaten Major College Team

By The Associated Press
It wasn't much of a surprise when Pittsburgh removed St. John's of Brooklyn as the last unbeaten team in major college basketball Thursday night.

The real eye-opener was at Cincinnati, where Miami of Ohio gave Oscar Robertson all sorts of trouble before he broke loose to retain his national scoring lead.

No one was sitting back yawning at Seattle either. Not with Elgin Baylor, No. 3 scorer, setting a school record and hitting the season high with 60 points as Seattle came from 19 points back and beat Portland 94-91.

Pitt, favored as the home team and because St. John's had lost its big man Lou Roethlis to injury, whipped the Redmen 86-73. Don Hennon scored 25 for Pitt.

Cincinnati, ranked No. 3, gained a 14-2 record by beating

Miami 79-59 with Oscar scoring 30. He got 12 in the last 3½ minutes after Miami had whittled the Bearcats' lead to 61-56.

Oscar has scored 523 points in 16 games for a 32.7 average. Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas is second with a 32.4 average on 389 points in 12 games.

Baylor, topping the year's previous high of 56 set by Robertson against Seton Hall, remained third in the scoring race, but jumped from a 29.7 average to 31.7 on 476 points in 15 games.

Duke, the club that handed top-ranked West Virginia its first defeat Monday, won its third straight with a 88-71 defeat of Virginia in an Atlantic Coast Conference game. St. Louis overhauled hot-shooting Wichita 81-73 in the Missouri Valley Conference. And Connecticut made it 11 straight in the Yankee Conference, whipping Maine 84-62.

Old-Timers Continue to Bag Rewards in '58 Contracts

By The Associated Press
Oldtimers continue to bag the heavy rewards in the 1958 signing sweepstakes of baseball, the so-called young man's game.

Warren Spahn, 36, and Alvin Dark, 35, stowed away official contracts Thursday amounting to a reported $105,000 between them.

Spahn, his career threatened when he lost his fast ball a couple years ago, will receive a reported $63,000 from the world champion Milwaukee Braves. That would make him the highest paid pitcher in the majors.

He earned it by leading the Braves with a 21-11 record, boosting his lifetime total of victories to 224 (best among active National League pitchers), and topping it by winning the Cy Young Award as baseball's best pitcher of 1957. His 21 victories marked his eighth 20-game season, tying the major league record for left-handers.

Dark accepted an estimated $40,000 from the Cardinals, representing about a $1,500 raise over the sum he drew while playing some of the National League's best shortstop, hitting 290 and driving in 64 runs.

Bob Nieman, Baltimore power-hitter, and pitcher Tom Gorman of Kansas City, were other vets to sign Thursday while the youngsters had representation among right-hander Bob Trowbridge of the Braves, right-hander Tom Brewer of the Boston Red Sox, catcher-first baseman Gus Triandos of the Orioles, and catcher Danny Kravitz and rookie outfielder Emil Panko of Pittsburgh.

The Salem High School Quakers will be heading down the home stretch of their 1957-58 schedule tonight when they entertain the East Liverpool Potters.

The squad has swept past 12 opponents this season and now have six games remaining. Three are at home against East Liverpool, Akron St. Vincent and Canton Central Catholic. The road tilts are at Boardman, Ashland and Girard.

Although not as highly touted as Youngstown South, they will be out to put an end to Salem's win streak. A team that has been beaten likes nothing better than to whip an all-winning aggregation.

Wolverines Set to Meet Boilermakers

By The Associated Press

Michigan's Wolverines, dormant in basketball competition since Jan. 33, will try to protect their Big Ten lead Saturday afternoon in a regionally televised game with Purdue.

The game at Ann Arbor will be followed by three night contests that send Northwestern to Illinois, Minnesota to Michigan State and Ohio State to Iowa.

The four conference engagements open up the title race in earnest after term and semester examinations at all schools. Indiana has a non-league date at DePaul. Wisconsin is idle.

Michigan trimmed Ohio State 72-63 in its last start to capture the Big Ten lead with a 3-1 record. Ohio State, meanwhile, has taken outright possession of second place with 4-2 while Michigan State and Indiana are locked in third with 3-2.

The race, however, still hasn't broken open. Wisconsin, Iowa, Northwestern, Purdue and Illinois have lost only three games. Minnesota is last with a 1-4 mark.

The Wolverines, who have not lost in five home games this season, have two players in the league's top 10 scorers and also rank among the best rebounders. Pete Tillotson is fourth in scoring with a 20.8 average and has retrieved more than 13 rebounds per game. Burton, tied for ninth in scoring with 16.8, has netted nearly 15 rebounds in each contest.

Purdue's best rebounder is Wilson Edison, who has collected more than 12 per game and who ranks 17th in scoring with a 15 average. Willie Merriweather is the Boilermakers' top scorer. He rammed in 29 points in a losing effort against Ohio State Monday to vault from 17th place to 7th with a 17.3 average.

Browns to Play 3 Games With Lions in 1958

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns will get three chances to avenge the 59-14 lambasting the Detroit Lions handed them in the National Football League's championship game last season.

This year, the Browns will meet Detroit three times. Two of the game will be a regular season home-and-home basis. The third game will be a regular season contest at Municipal Stadium.

Cleveland is in the NFL's Eastern Division while Detroit is a Western Division club. The Brown's other Western Division foe next season will be the Los Angeles Rams. The Rams, defeated by the Browns here last fall, will be hosts to Cleveland in the Los Angeles stadium for the season game as well as the exhibition. In addition to exhibitions with Los Angeles and Detroit, Cleveland will play three other preseason games. The Browns meet San Francisco's 49ers on the West Coast, Pittsburgh at Akron and the Bears at Chicago.

can come from behind. This fact was evidenced in the Columbiana, Ambridge and South games.

During these remaining regular season encounters, it will be up to the Quakers to transform this fighting spirit into the ability to overcome the pressure that continues to rise after each victory.

Records show that the Salemites are averaging 69.2 points a game to their foes' 53.5.

The key to this courtwood success lies in the team's adaptability in putting the oval in the net with consistency. The Quakers, for 12 games this season are averaging 40.2 per cent on their field goal attempts.

They have topped the 40 per cent mark in each of their last five games and in seven of the last eight. They reached their peak against Ambridge by canning 48.3 per cent of their shots.

The lowest the eight-ranked Quakers have shot was 28.6 against Struthers in the opening game of the season. Since then they have not gone below 35.5. They hit that amount against Akron Garfield and Ravenna.

THEIR OPPONENTS are shooting 33.3 per cent. Wellsville shot the highest with 56.5 while Ravenna possesses the lowest percentage against the locals with a poor 17.7.

Wellsville and Sebring (43.3) are the only teams which have outshot the Red and Black. Of the other ten foes, none has reached 40 per cent.

Speaking of figures Coach John Cabas' record to date in his eight years as Salem's basketball tutor is 101-46 for a percentage of 68.7.

The dates of this season's tournament games to be played in Youngstown are Feb. 20-21-22-27-28 and March 1.

Drawings will be held Feb. 10 at South High School.

OF THE 15 SQUADS entered two will advance to Kent. Salem will not go to Canton this year should they get out of Youngstown.

The 15 teams include five Youngstown squads, South, North, East Chaney and Rayen. The other 10 are Salem, Warren, St. Marys, Girard, Leavittsburg, Lisbon, Newton Falls, Niles, Warren Harding, Howland and Austintown Fitch.

Thirteen quintets will battle in the tournament scheduled in Struthers. They are Beaver Local, Boardman, Campbell Memorial, Canfield, Brookfield, Hubbard, Liberty, East Palestine, Poland, Struthers, Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, Ursuline and Cardinal Mooney. Two will go to Kent also.

Competition there will be staged Feb. 24-25-26-27-28 and March 1. Their drawings will be made on Wednesday.

THE DOUBLE ELIMINATION county tourney will also be held in Struthers and will consist of Greenford, Jackson, Milton, Goshen, Western Reserve, North Lima, Lowellville and Springfield Local. The consolation winner and the champion will advance to Warren. The fourth annual Canton Jewish Community Center basketball tournament will run March 6 through March 16. Entries can be made through Herb Rosengard, 1528 Market Ave., N. Canton 4, Ohio.

Salem fans this season have not witnessed a Quaker team in a losing effort. Not only is the varsity 12-0 but also the JV squad coached by Karl Zellers. They're averaging 66.4 a game to their opponents' 43.3.

Rance, Roose Get Leetonia Grid Awards

Jim Rance, a halfback last season, was awarded the Most Valuable Player trophy while center John Roose was the recipient of two trophies at the annual Leetonia Booster Club football banquet Thursday night at Orchard Hill School.

Roose received the Knights of Columbus award for being the player with the highest scholastic average and was presented a trophy for being voted the most valuable lineman on the squad.

Voting on the latter award was conducted by only the backfield men on the team.

Dr. Guy Nicolette represented the Boosters in presenting Rance with the club trophy, while Frank Vespasian made the award to Roose for the KC.

Leetonia football coach Pat Mancuso presented Roose with his trophy for being the most valuable lineman.

Gene Leffler and Jim Grove were chosen to co-captain the team next fall.

"Winning isn't the most important thing, it is the only thing," Johnny Pont, head football coach at Miami University and guest speaker, told the crowd of some 150 persons at the banquet.

Pont, who is the only player in Miami history to have his football jersey number retired, said losing is not a part of the American way of life.

Richard Carney, president of the Boosters club, acted as master of ceremonies.

Seated at the head table with their wives were W. W. Bailey, school principal; Dr. Paul Conrad; Mancuso; Carney; Paul Hayes, school superintendent, and Dr. Paul Beaver of the board of education.

Also at the head table were the Rev. Fr. Warren Braun of St. Patrick's Catholic Church who gave the invocation; the speaker, and Karl Meinhardt, school music director.

Guests introduced were three

Crawford, assistant coach at Salem.

Others introduced at the banquet by Carney were four Leetonia cheerleaders. Mancuso introduced each of the players and their parents along with his assistant coaches, Norman Peretti, George Trombitas, Virgil Roman and their wives and guests.

Former Leetonia football players, Bob Peet and Bob and Fred Less; Earle Bruce, Salem High School grid mentor; and Vince Pont, who grew up in Canton with Roman said players should be gentlemen when off the field. He said their actions are looked up to and reflect on their school and their parents.

The speaker, who played pro ball in Canada, added that a player must keep up his academic standing as well as his ability to play ball.

"The two go hand in hand," he said.

During his 25 minute speech, Pont kept the crowd entertained with humorous anecdotes besides frequently referring to Bob Peet, a freshman griddier at Miami U.

Pont said the former all tri-county back will play a prominent role in Miami's fortunes in 1958.

Commissioner Frick Reports Abandonment of Poll by Fans

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball is abandoning the fan poll. Major league players, coaches and managers will pick starting lineups for the 1958 All-Star Game at Baltimore July 8.

Commissioner Ford Frick announced the change after conferring with Presidents Will H. Harkness of the American League and Warren Giles of the National League.

Each player, manager and coach will vote for an all-opponent team. None can vote for a player on his own club.

Bitter complaints about the 1957 poll, when Cincinnati almost had all eight National starters, brought about the new rules. An avalanche of Cincinnati votes, "unbalanced," the poll.

Frick ruled out Cincinnati's Gus Bell, Wally Post and George Crowe in favor of Willie Mays of

New York, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and Stan Musial of St. Louis. However, Musial eventually beat out Crowe for first base in the final voting.

Frick said the vast majority of letters from fans favored letting the players vote.

The players have not participated in the voting since the game first was played in 1933. At various times, the managers have selected all or part of the squads. Originally, the fans picked all the players but in recent years they have voted only for the eight starters.

As in the past, the remainder of the 25-man squads will be picked by the managers of the two competing teams. In 1958 that will be Fred Haney of the National and Casey Stengel of the American.

Frick said mechanics of the voting would be decided later. The new arrangement will be subject to change after a year's trial.

Hinnant to Box Yvon Durelle in 10-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP) — A line in the boxing record book reads:

Feb. 18, 1957, Clarence Hinnant 17½, Washington, stopped Yvo Durelle, 18½, New Brunswick, Beach, Fla.

Tonight the sturdy Canadian fisherman and the lean, muscular boxer met again under different circumstances.

Durelle, 28, is unbeaten in 11 fights (winning 10 with one draw) since the Hinnant disaster. He is rated No. 3 among the light heavyweight contenders by Ring and is talking about a title match with Archie Moore if he wins a couple more.

Hinnant, 24, is in on a rain check as a late substitute for Tony Anthony who has the flu. Clarence was riding high until he got "caught cold" by Harold Johnson in a May 31 match at St. Nicholas arena in New York and was knocked out in the first round. His only fight since was a draw with Trinidad's Yolande Pompey in Chicago, Dec. 18.

Despite Hinnant's TKO in Florida, the odds makers have been hedging on the bout.

2½ TON MACHINE STOLEN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland police are on the lookout for thieves who took a two and one-half ton loader-grader from the Atlas Paving Co. storage lot Thursday. Thomas H. Butler, the firm's owner, said the $3,800 machine was probably driven off on a trailer.

House Subcommittee Okays Reserve Clauses in Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — Football and basketball appeared happy today with prospective federal legislation for pro sports, but baseball expressed concern over parts of a bill drafted by a House subcommittee.

In brief, the bill would make only commercial aspects of baseball, football, basketball and ice hockey—concessions, ticket sales, stadium rentals, etc.—liable to antitrust laws. Other aspects—reserve clauses, player drafts, farm systems, territorial rights, etc.—which are "reasonable necessary" to the sports would escape monopoly jurisdiction.

It's that "reasonable necessary" phrase which troubles baseball, and even some members of the subcommittee.

Particularly upsetting to baseball officials was the fact the House Antitrust Subcommittee threw the television problem back into their laps.

Chairman Celler (D-NY), who drafted the bill, said it "encourages baseball to work out a television agreement." However, he defined "reasonably necessary" as anything "not detrimental to either the public or the sport itself."

The courts will decide what is detrimental he added. Pro sports have known that all along.

Celler agreed the bill may not be perfect. He said he plans to let "the dust settle a little bit" before introducing it to the full Judiciary Committee.

One baseball official, who declined to be identified, said: "We could have reached a TV agreement long ago. The problem isn't between the majors and the minors."

"But say we reach an agreement, blacking out major league telecasts in minor league areas when those minor league clubs are playing at home. The majors are happy, and the minors are happy. But then a TV station in a blacked out minor league city says we are denying its right to telecast major league games. Then we all go to court. Even if we are found to be right in taking "reasonably necessary" action, it has cost us money. We win the battles, but we lose the war because we go broke."

"What baseball wanted and didn't get, was a bill listing what it could and could not do in restricting TV under antitrust laws—thus making costly court action unnecessary."

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, while not commenting directly on the bill, said he hoped the Judiciary Committee would not recommend legislation "that would subject organized sports to the constant threat of litigation."

ATTACKED BY 2 YOUTHS

Mrs. Mercedes Cotner did not let go of the purse although knocked to the ground. She was released after treatment for minor injuries at St. John's Hospital. The purse snatchers escaped.

Math, Science Get Attention Of Educators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some 600 teachers and school administrators went into workshop sessions today, focusing their attention on math and science, at the three-day Ohio Education Assn. convention here.

The keynote speaker, Dr. Arthur F. Corey, however, said Thursday: "We need better quality teaching in all subjects. A broad program of education is the only answer to Sputnik."

The executive secretary of the California Teachers Assn., said one of the worst mistakes America could make is to pattern our education system after Russia's.

"American education has not failed. It has simply not been permitted to succeed," he said.

Among the improvements Dr. Corey suggested are another 10 to 12 billion dollars a year in the program, improved teacher education, higher teacher salaries and smaller classes.

Dr. Corey urged stricter requirements for teacher certificates and more autonomy for teachers in fitting their techniques to the needs of the individual classes.

"We need money," he said, "but above all, we need prestige for teachers. Teachers are not accorded the faith, confidence and trust their task calls for."

'Churches' Merger Not Foreseeable, Says Ohio Leader

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio pastors spent four days this week discussing the changes for a wide-scale merger of Christian churches, but the convention chairman, Dr. H. Beecher Hicks, says he sees little hope for such a movement in Ohio in the foreseeable future.

In an interview shortly after adjournment of the 39th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention Thursday, Dr. Hicks said:

"The ecumenical (representing the entire church) movement must start at the local level. We can't do anything until the churches themselves want to unite. And it is difficult for many of them to suddenly discard the church traditions they have lived with all these years."

He pointed out, however, "The climate is being carefully cultivated for an ecumenical church in Ohio, and we have made advances."

Meet the FBI's Pin-Up Girls:

They Made the Grade Through Crime, Not Beauty

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—(NEA)—Don't despair because your girl friend has just declared she thinks you're a crashing bore.
Simply suggest that she help you stick up a bank.
If the gal is Janet Carroll Cruseberry, she's likely to decide that you're completely irresistible after all.
For Janet is one of the FBI's most wanted female criminals. And she and her colleagues are per-fumed proof that a fugitive doesn't have to be a man to feel at home in the underworld.

The brown-haired 27-year-old gun moll is wanted for her alleged part in the 1955 robberies of the Poplar Grove and Farmers State Banks in Illinois.
Janett's picture didn't start decorating wanted posters until after she met a hoodlum named Howard John Hansen. Until then she had only been charged with such small time offenses as prostitution and fighting.

Teacher, 22, Facing Paddling Charge

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 22-year-old school teacher will go to court Saturday to answer to a charge of assault and battery in the paddling of one of her pupils. Today, other members of her fourth grade class plan to give her a "good luck party."

"The children told me the only time I paddled them was when they deserved it," said the teacher, Miss Gayle A. Graner.

She related that one little girl told her she had spent her allowance to buy ingredients for some soft drinks for the "party."

Miss Graner is scheduled to appear in Police Court Saturday to answer a charge filed by Mrs. Lu Ann McGeorge. Mrs. McGeorge claimed Miss Graner paddled her son Roscoe, 11, "unlawfully" and that he was bruised.

Miss Graner has said she paddled the youngster when he defied her instructions to quit playing with some cards and study his lessons. She said another boy involved obeyed her instructions. Miss Graner said Roscoe has been in school this week but she didn't know whether he would attend the "party."

Miss Graner's attorney is William F. Hopkins, one of Cincinnati's most noted criminal attorneys. He volunteered his services and said he would call other pupils of Miss Graner as witnesses.

Akron Authorities Return Alleged Killer

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—James Milak is being returned from New York today to face charges in the slaying of Steve Mikulac, 35, and his wife, Lillie, 43.

Milak, 35, was arrested by Canadian police in Montreal Saturday. He had been sought since the bodies were found in a ravine near Ravenna Oct. 12.

Police said the couple, who had been married only a few days before, apparently were forced to kneel, put their hands in their pockets and then were shot from behind several times.

Milak agreed voluntarily to leave Canada and was brought across the border into the United States Tuesday by FBI agents. At Plattsburgh, N. Y., Thursday, he was taken into custody by two Akron detectives and Anthony Kagaloukas, assistant Summit County prosecutor.

MAXINE KOERBER: She has a mean way with beer bottles.

MAIZIE LAMBERT: She has a reluctance to show up.

weighing about 115 pounds with medium build and complexion. She has brown eyes, and her face may be marked with pimples.

The FBI says she may also be wearing partial dentures because of bad teeth. When not robbing banks or getting into other kinds of scrapes with the law, Janet partied company in Chicago soon after the robbery. The FBI describes her as 5 feet, 5 inches tall.

der, stands 5 feet 1 to five feet 3, weighs about 100 pounds and has a small mole on her left cheek. She has worked as a receptionist and at tailoring.

One of the more violent gals on the FBI list is 43-year-old Maxine Elliott Koerber of Dallas, Tex. One day in 1956, Maxine blasted her husband and immediately left the state.

Like their male counterparts, female fugitives often don't look or act like the popular conception of a criminal.

For instance, the FBI describes Angelina Connelly as a "quiet person who keeps to herself." She has a placid countenance and is a small, trim brunette. But don't let this description fool you.

For her wanted poster warns in capital letters that Angelina may carry a knife and should be considered armed and dangerous.

Angelina is wanted for alleged complicity in the record breaking 1955 robbery of the Woods side Branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank in Queens, N.Y., which netted more than $300,000. This is the largest amount of cash ever taken at gun point from a federally insured bank.

THE REVEN-HAIRED 34-year-old fugitive is the wife of Thomas Francis Connelly Jr., believed to be one of the ueens bandits. She is charged with failure to report a crime and being an accessory after the fact.

The FBI says Angelina is slender, stands 5 feet 1 to five feet 3,

At the time, she was operating a tavern. Witnesses said that shortly before the killing she flew into uncontrollable rages, once smashing beer bottles against the tavern walls.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter E. Stebbins, superintendent of the Madison River, Idaho, school district, Thursday urged a House education subcommittee to continue government payments to school districts where enrollment is swelled by influx of children of federal employees.

He said expanded federal activities at Dayton and Wright-Patterson Air Force Base have caused school population in his district to jump from 700 in 1940 to 5,600 at present.

Police Halt Activities Of 4th-Grade Gangs

That's One Way to Find Out If It Can Smoke!

ROCKY FORD, Colo. (AP)— Cecilia Zavala, 4, wondered if her teddy bear could smoke. She inserted one of her daddy's cigarettes in the bear's mouth, lighted it and put the bear in a clothes closet. Firemen managed to keep the fire from spreading far, but Teddy was pretty much a ruined brin.

Civilian Has U.S. Military Jet For Sale

DALLAS (AP)—Bob Kamensky of North Hollywood, Calif., has a T33 Shooting Star for sale despite government regulations prohibiting private civilians from owning military jet aircraft.

He built it himself from about 30,000 spare parts picked up during a three-year, international scavenger hunt.

The plane looks so authentic government inspectors accused him of swiping it when they saw it, he said. Kamensky, a used plane parts broker, said he picked up parts in junk heaps from Alaska to the Sahara Desert.

He got interested in the project when a Chicago banker told him he wanted a jet for his own use. Kamensky knew where he could find a fuselage and a wing in Nevada. The rest he figured would be easy.

But the task, including frustrating chases on false leads and long struggles against government red tape, took him three years and thousands of miles.

He bought five used engines to provide two good ones.

The banker sold out after putting $130,000 into the venture. But Kamensky says his craft, despite its fuel consumption of 240 gallons an hour, offers advantages—for instance—a speed of 550 miles per hour.

The plane was assembled in Phoenix, Ariz.
